WD's style department dishes about the products we'd be lost without

by Melissa Matthews and Amanda Greene

As style editors, we get the honor of testing tons of products daily (lucky us!). Sometimes we come across clever items that really wow us. We've finally narrowed it down to our top finds, and you're going to love them—we swear!

◀AG What accessory goes with every outfit? That's easy: lipstick or gloss. Lip Lights from ModelCo. tops my list because the applicator has built-in lights and a mirror that make touchups so simple. (It's also handy to use in a dark restaurant to read the menu!) ($28; modelco.com.au)

◀MM You've just painted your nails and notice a smudge. You pick up a cotton ball, apply nail polish remover and try to fix it, only to mess up three more nails instead. Sound familiar? Not to me anymore, thanks to ASP Manicure Saver Cotton Claw for Sally Beauty. It's my secret manicure weapon: It grips the cotton ball so you don't have to. ($3.29; sallybeauty.com)

MM Moxie is the creative brand behind these candy-striped tins to stash in your bag to carry and conceal feminine products. Now I'll never have to worry about accidentally whipping out a pad from my handbag again—thank you! ($4.99; duanereade.com for stores)

▶MM There are so many eco-friendly fashion items out there, but many of them look, well... eco-friendly. Not Smart Glass jewelry: The pieces are made from glass bottles—like those for Pellegrino and wine—and turned into beautiful rings, necklaces and bracelets. Now I can wear something that's good for the earth and score loads of compliments at the same time. (Necklaces start at $65; ring, $95; smartglassjewelry.com)

▶AG I tend to be impatient (can't think of the last time I didn't ruin a manicure waiting for it to dry). After I showed Melissa a recent nail tragedy, she recommended Orly Smudge Fixer. I just swiped it on over the color—no more nick. ($9; orlybeauty.com)

▼MM If it's an outdoor party, I'm there! But I hate when my heels sink into the grass and get stuck. The SoleMates High Heeler fits onto most heels and prevents them from sinking. They're also great for navigating cobblestones or grates in the sidewalk. ($9.95; thesolemates.com) ▶
